PRESS RELEASE

EPHRATA. The Ephrata Alumni Association reports that a website has been developed and is available October 1st for access by its members and other supporters of Ephrata High School. The new site can be found at EphrataTigersAlumni.com. Association President Michael Lehmann announced, "It is the intention of the alumni group to capitalize on the success of the recent 100-year reunion held for all alumni of the school. Association members, as well as other Ephrata High School alumni, will now have the opportunity to become more involved with and informed about the association and its activities through the new website."

The website includes a wide variety of information including association history and mission statement, membership list and application, names of association board and meeting reports, scholarship program, site for latest alumni news and events, updated information of Ephrata High School activities, class archives where class websites, high school annuals and class reunion reports are available, stories of noted alumni, and full reporting of the Ephrata High School 100-year reunion. Greg Folsom is the site's webmaster and Beverly Mayer is the website data developer.

At the association's annual meeting in June a board of directors and officers were elected including Lehmann as president, Jerry Pitts, vice president; Beverly Mayer, secretary; Gail Smith, treasurer; Patti Ferguson, historian and members Joyce Mulliken and John Mitchell.

The mission of the alumni group is to provide scholarships to qualified Ephrata High School graduates and to support the school. Chance Flanigan and Matthew Mortimer were the recipients of the 2014 scholarships.

Building membership is the main source of funding for projects. Local Ephrata alumni are encouraged to show their support by becoming lifetime or annual members in the association. Full details of membership are found on the EphrataTigersAlumni.com website or contact Michael Lehmann at mlehmann@ifiber.tv or 509 754-3135.
